Yevhenii Litvinenko (b. 1987, Kryvyi Rih, Ukraine) is a multidisciplinary artist based in Kyiv, Ukraine. His practice encompasses appliqué, painting, and graphic work. He works primarily with paper cut-outs painted in gouache, watercolor, and ink, creating compositions that highlight the organic beauty of nature. Litvinenko is best known for his "Botanical Microspace" series, distinguished by its vivid color palette and refined plant-like silhouettes.

Litvinenko's work draws inspiration from the natural world, characterized by ornamental, flattened forms and simplified organic shapes. His practice includes spontaneous, emotionally driven pieces created in single sessions, later refined in detail. Important series include Botanical Gardens, a pivotal project in his development, and a watercolor series capturing delicate natural events such as rainfall, ripples on water, snow, and waves.

Yevhenii Litvinenko has participated in numerous international exhibitions, including iSaloni in Milan, Maison & Objet in Paris, Decorex in London, Boutique Design in New York, Zurich Design Weeks, and I am u are in Los Angeles. His works are held in various private collections both in Ukraine and abroad, and in the collection of the Ivan Franko National Academic Drama Theatre in Kyiv.
